Fire Destroys Rochester Landmark

By Anne Kakley

An evening fire on July 28, 2011, completely gutted the Rochester Bakery and Cafe, located at 28 Marion Road, at approximately 10:00 pm. Rochester, Marion, Mattapoissett and Acushnet fire departments all responded to the blaze.

On the morning of July 29, Rochester passersby stopped at the landmark business to stare in disbelief. "I just can't believe it," said resident John Diggin. "It used to be a bar room. It was a post office at one time. This is terrible. We used to get coffee here. I guess we'll just go to Dunkin' Donuts now."

The fire displaced three businesses and two residents. Denise Schwartz, one of the residents of the building, stood and stared at the building.

"Look," she said, pointing to the charred

The vandalism at the park, located on the corner of Route 6 and North Street in Mattapoissett, has been ongoing for the past six weeks. Anyone with information on the vandalism is encouraged to contact Police Chief Mary Lyons at 508-758-4141. Photo by Anne Kakley.

remnants of the roof. "You can still see the mixing bowls in my apartment."

Ms. Schwartz had moved to Rochester in February to be near her daughter and her newly-born grandchild. She described the fire as a terrifying experience, unlike anything she had ever faced.

"I could see the smoke following me as I went through the apartment. It was fast... It was very terrifying."

Ms. Schwartz said that the fire started right before 10:00 pm with a series of two or three explosions from the back deck of the building. "I wasn't sure if it was fireworks at first," she said.

She said the back door of her apartment was hot, so she didn't open it, fearing a backdraft. Instead, she met the other upstairs resident in the front of the building and attempted to escape through a window.

"I got my cat out safely, thank God," she said. But all of her possessions were consumed in the fire. She escaped with her pet and the clothes on her back. As far as assistance goes, she will not likely need the services of Salvation Army, she said.

"I have family," she said, blinking back tears.

According to Rochester fire chief Scott Wiegel, the investigation was taken over by the state fire marshal's office. "The cause, I think, is going to be undetermined because there was so much damage," he said.

A full report is expected from the state fire marshal's office, said Chief Wiegel. The Wanderer will share the findings of that report when it becomes available.

black bears, which continue to be sighted as the summer carries on.

"People think the bear sightings are a rumor," said Mattapoisett resident Evelyn Estes. "But they're not!" On August 1, Ms. Estes was picking blueberries in her backyard at 70 Marion Road, when she heard cracking noises come from the woods.

Thinking fast, she grabbed her camera and documented the black bear that was tearing through her blueberry patch.

Ms. Estes also called animal control and the police department, but the bear was gone by the time they arrived.

The next morning, less than a half-mile away, on Martha's Way in the Aucott area of Mattapoisett, John Mathieu spotted a black bear – possibly the same one seen by Ms. Estes – hanging around in his backyard.

"I was out in my yard and my neighbor was screaming. I thought I heard her say 'bear'... Lo and behold, there he was, 30 feet away from me. He was looking at my chicken coop." Mr. Mathieu also took a picture of the bear with his phone. The photo shows the bear right behind his children's swingset.

"You can scare them away," said Mr. Mathieu, "but we've got little kids. I told them, 'sorry, can't play outside today'."

Mr. Mathieu said that an automated call from the town had alerted them of the bears in the area, and police were in the neighborhood at the time of the bear sighting. The bear in his yard was just one of two that had been spotted by neighbors that morning, he said.

Mattapoisett's Natural Resource Officer Kathy Massey said, "we need to educate people as to what to do with regards to bears. I can't stress enough to stay away from the bears, and don't feed them! You can print that in big bold type."

Ms. Massey also recommended taking in bird feeders and to never approach a bear. "A bear can travel ten miles a day. These bears are just trying to find a good territory to call their own, hopefully they will just move on. We've educated people about what to do with raccoons and other animals, now we need people to know

Vandals Damage Mattapoissett Playground

By Anne Kakley

Nearly two years after its opening, the Dunseith Gardens playground is now under attack from a band of unidentified vandals.

The playground, which was made out of recycled materials, was a project of the Mattapoissett Land Trust in August 2009. Crawl tunnels, a large bell, and a "Bridge to Nowhere" had been crafted out of donated and re-purposed materials. Now, said MLT member Paul Osenkowski, the park has become a hang-out for people bent on destroying the children's spot.

Over the past six weeks, the park has been incrementally vandalized, starting with balusters being kicked out and shattered on the gazebo.

"I figured it was just a couple of kids goofing around," said Mr. Osenkowski, who noted that fast food drink cups have also been left behind at the site, probably by the vandals.

"This park was built for three and four-year-olds," he continued. "The premise was to build a little park. Instead, [someone is] vandalizing it. To see what's going on – it tears my heart out."

In addition to gazebo damage, an inscription plate dedicating a bench to deceased community member Blanche Perry was defaced, play ropes were torn and a marble bench was cracked.

"It is a solid marble bench," said Mr. Osenkowski. "It's an expensive bench. They split it in half – they had to have hit it with something."

The Mattapoissett police department has responded to the vandalism reports several times, but the damage has taken place without witness reports.

Summer Faire Raises $4,000

By Laura Fedak Pedulli

By all accounts, the Mattapoisett Congregational Church's annual Summer Faire yard sale fundraiser on Saturday, July 30 was a resounding success. About 50 volunteers mobilized to sell an assortment of items – with the main attraction being the high-end and antique furniture strewn along the church grounds looking for new homes. The event raised about $4,000 for the church's general fund.

"We have excellent, incredible donations. We have a lot of living room furniture, and marble end tables. We've got everything, even a kitchen sink!" said volunteer coordinator Kim Field the day of the event.

The sale was scheduled to begin at 9:00 am, but "at 8:30 am people were already drooling over the furniture, so we let them in at 8:45 am," Ms. Field said. She said the church had been collecting donations over the past month. "Everything has to go!" she said as volunteers worked the grounds striking deals with

In addition to furniture, the event offered an indoor sale of kitchen items, artwork, jewelry and other odds and ends. Also, the fair featured kids toys – with small bicycles, dolls, miniature cribs, and other favorites for sale. Beth Lopes entertained a free children's activity center, which included a pedal-pumping device that blew up balloons and a ring throw. "It's been a good year. We entertain the kids while you shop, just like in Las Vegas where you get drinks when you gamble," she joked. Nearby, a table of cookies, brownies and cupcakes attracted visitors with a sweet tooth.

Celtic Storytellers Delight Young Crowd

By Laura Fedak Pedulli

The art of storytelling is still alive and well, if Tim Jennings and Leanne Ponder have anything to say about it. The duo storytellers and musicians, renowned for their performance art in New England and beyond, paid a special visit to the Plumb Memorial Library in Rochester last Thursday, July 28.

The Vermont storytellers weaved old folk tales and performed traditional music to the delight of about a dozen children and parents. The couple brought their traditional instruments, a Celtic harp – which has 36 strings like keys on a piano – and a Concertina, an accordion-like instrument that plays single notes with the same range as a fiddle.

"The Celtic Harp traditionally plays music from Ireland, Scotland and sometimes Wales. It's a 4,000 old instrument," Mr. Jennings explained to the group.

The two delivered a series of entertaining songs and stories, which Mr. Jennings said are decided upon once the performers meet their audience – whether children, adults or teens. That afternoon, the couple narrated stories by alternating back-and-forth on the prose – with Mr. Jennings finishing Ms. Ponder’s sentence and vice versa, and taking on the different characters with a range of voices and intonations.

One story followed a thrush, or bird, who despite encounters with honest weavers and cotton pickers in dressing himself in a special outfit, faced a dishonest sort when a king tricked him into becoming his dinner. The bird kept singing, even from within the belly of the royal man, “The king is just like any man but nowhere near as honest,” according to the story. Soon everyone around the king heard this chorus from the bird within his belly, and would sing along and mock the king.

Mr. Jennings and Ms. Ponder led the group in a chorus of the song, and soon the audience became the storytellers too. At the end of the tale, he listed the two morals of the story: as small as a voice is, it can still be true; and always keep your promises.

Another story they shared concerned the often-demonized animal, the wolf. “We don’t think wolves are bad – we think they are great!” Mr. Jennings said, noting that the couple loves wolves so much they devoted an entire storytelling record about wolves “not being the bad guy.”

The wolf story that elicited many laughs was one about his search in vain for his “lucky breakfast.” After many animals escaped the wolf using mere trickery, the hungry, exasperated animal said to himself, “Sometimes I do things that make me feel so stupid!” However, at the end of the tale, lemmings in search of the end of the world thought they found it in the wolf’s sleeping mouth, and one-by-one filled his belly.

“Even if you are a foolish wolf your dreams can come true. And god helps those who sleep with their mouths open,” Mr. Jennings said of the morals of the story.

The storytellers stressed again and again that folk melodies and stories “belong to you” – as no copyrights or entitlements restrict sharing them. He said musicians singing cover tunes at small establishments, and even Girls Scout troops singing songs around the campfire, have been silenced for performing songs under copyright.

For now, Mr. Jennings and Ms. Ponder work to keep storytelling alive. The duo typically spend one year developing a storytelling piece. In general, he said there is a movement pulling away from older stories, which is "a big mistake."

"There is something about what storytelling does, that is not like stand-up comedy, preaching, poetry, or oral commentary. We keep artistic colloquial speech alive. We turn the printed piece into a living piece," Mr. Jennings said.

Library Director Gail Roberts said she decided to hire the storytellers when she saw them perform at a showcase a few years ago. Their performance was paid for by a now-defunct state grant that matches library

Ashley Mural Celebrated in Mattapoisett

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

Over 100 people came to the Mattapoisett Historical Museum and Carriage House on Sunday, July 31 to celebrate the restoration and hanging of the spectacular 6-foot by 16-foot mural by Clifford Ashley, entitled "A Chart of the Whale Coast of New England".

Seth Mendell, Society president, addressed the crowd and said that the day marked the third most important day in the history of the society and museum.

"The most important day was our founding and opening day in 1958," said Mr. Mendell. "The second was ten years later, in 1968 when we raised the funds and built our carriage house, to show the agricultural heritage of Mattapoisett... and today, an outstanding day, we celebrate the restoration and hanging of this gift of the Clifford Ashley mural by Polly Duff Phipps and her family," said Mr. Mendell.

The mural, or chart, hung in the home at 20 Water Street, in Mattapoisett for 90 years. The Duffs, who lived there for 38 years, had seven children who grew up with the mural over their heads in the "Harpoon Room" or sunroom of the home. It was attached to the sloped ceiling overhead and survived through several hurricanes due to its location. Ms. Duff Phipps contacted Seth Mendell two years ago to ask if the museum might want the mural.

"I'd never seen it," said Mr. Mendell. "Polly said she'd be out and for me to come in and look at it... I looked at all the walls and didn't see it... then I looked up," said Mr. Mendell.

Mr. Mendell said that he knew immediately that it belonged in Mattapoisett, at the museum. It took two years to figure out the various logistics, including funding the project, removing the mural, locating a restoration specialist and transporting the mural, which took 10 men to move.

The mural details the SouthCoast from the Connecticut River to Cape Cod, including the islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket. Mr. Ashley painted the mural in 1919 for his good friend Gilbert Hinsdale. The mural is possibly the largest single work by the artist, who is best known as the author of the Ashley Book of Knots, published in 1947. The book contains descriptions and drawings of 3,854 knots and is accepted as the "bible" of knot-tying.

The restoration of the Ashley mural was done by Gianfranco Pocobene, a mural specialist, whose restoration work includes murals hanging in Trinity Church and the Boston Public Library in Boston.

The mural was placed on the wall, in back of the pulpit, between the two ends of the second floor railing in the museum. The soundboard and associated chains were raised to allow a clear view of the entire mural. Mr. Mendell said that when he measured the mural and measured the area behind the pulpit, the two areas matched perfectly, with only one and a half inches left on either side of the mural.

A photo of the restored mural was taken and twelve limited edition prints were made marking the date of the gift and dedication. One was presented to Ms. Duff Phipps by Mr. Mendell and seven others were given to the Duff children, 'so they can look at it anytime they'd like,' said Mr. Mendell. The remaining four prints were to be auctioned off to the highest bidder to support the ongoing funding of the project.

Mr. Mendell said that the mural project was a team effort and he thanked the many individuals, church trustees and donors.

Mr. Mendell was thanked by Nate Bekemeier, who said that the project would never have happened if it wasn't for Mr. Mendell's enthusiasm and hard work. A framed box with large buttons with sketches of details of the mural was presented to Mr. Mendell in appreciation for his efforts.

A book is in the works which includes many photos of the mural, as it hung in the home, after a hurricane and photos of the whimsical details within the mural, such as spouting whales, oil casks, wildlife, trees, mountains, birds flying, dolphins, whale boats and the great north wind blowing a gale.

Fundraising efforts continue and anyone wishing to contribute should send their donation to the museum at 5 Church Street, Mattapoisett, MA 02739.

Pan-Massachusetts Challenge

By Laura Fedak Pedulli

Last year, when Jeffrey Dickerson first participated in the Pan-Massachusetts Challenge – a 192-mile bike-a-thon fundraiser for cancer research – he did it mostly as “a combination of it being good for me, and as a chance to give back and contribute in a bigger way.” Around that time, his co-worker’s 8-month son had survived cancer thanks to a successful bone marrow transplant from his 5-year old sister, and his mother had

FLEA ALLERGIES

My dog itches almost constantly in the summer and fall and loses hair over his back near his tail. A friend said it could be caused by fleas, but I rarely find more than one flea at a time. Any thoughts?

Your friend may be right. Many dogs and cats are allergic to flea saliva. All of the changes in your dog’s skin can be caused by 1 flea bite a week. Cats with flea allergy dermatitis tend to get small scabs all over their body. Treatment involves strict flea control in your home as well as on your pet. Talk to your veterinarian about Advantage and Frontline.

died from cancer eight years earlier.

This year, however, the meaning behind the race is hitting even closer to home. Shortly after participating last year, Mr. Dickerson's wife – Jeannine – was diagnosed with liver cancer.

"We found a couple of growths, so this year it is more personal," he said. "She's doing okay," he added, and said that she is visiting three clinics in different states to investigate treatment options. Recently the family decided to pursue a live liver transplant and is getting family and friends tested as possible donors.

"You have to have the same blood type, the size [of the liver] must be comparable, and the portion of arteries and vascular components have to be a match," he said.

In the meantime, Mr. Dickerson is prepping up for his second round of participation in the two-day ride, which is set to take place on August 6 and 7. The Marion resident is one of 5,000 total cyclists who will ride with the collective goal of raising $34 for cancer research at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. He is one of 18 riders from the Tri-Town area; he is riding from Sturbridge to Provincetown.

To prepare for the event, which is 110 miles the first day and 82 miles the second, Mr. Dickerson began training in April. He is riding the longest route available – other shorter, alternative routes of varying mileage are available to cyclists depending on their time and ability.

All participants are required to raise between $500 and $4,200 to take part in the event and about 3,000 volunteers participate to ensure that 100 percent of the proceeds go directly towards the center.

Mr. Dickerson recalled the excitement of last year's ride. "It was one of the coolest weekends of the year. People were lining the route, some with bagpipes in the Berkshires. It hedges down to the cape, and for 400 yards people line up along the whole thing, partying and high-fiving [riders]," he said.

"You meet so many people along the way and you hear great stories of people overcoming their challenges with cancer. One guy last year rode it with one leg," he said.

Tabor Field Lights Hearing Concludes

Marion Zoning Board of Appeals

By Laura Fedak Pedulli

At its well-attended July 28 meeting at the Music Hall, the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals officially concluded a public hearing on proposed 90-foot high field lights that would accompany extensive fieldwork already taking place at the school. The fieldwork – which includes new crumb rubber turf, a dugout, bleachers, etc. – elicited concern from residents who believed the school failed to adequately inform abutting neighbors and receive necessary permits before breaking ground.

Tabor Academy contended that the work was allowable, and that any efforts to thwart the project would be appealed to the courts for interfering with the school's educational development. Under the state's Dover Amendment, educational organizations are allowed to undertake construction and other expansion projects while bypassing local town by-laws. However, towns are allowed to weigh in and review site plans for projects.

In early July, the Board of Selectmen sought an injunction against Tabor for ignoring Cease and Desist orders issued by Building Commissioner Scott Shippey. The Plymouth Land Court ruled that Tabor can install the turf but would need to gain approval from town boards for new lights, the dugout and bleachers.

With the go-ahead in place to pursue the new turf, Tabor is now actively seeking approval for four 90-foot lights at the corners of one of its fields. The ZBA closed the public hearing, and has until September 16 to render a decision on the lights.

Prior to closing the hearing, a number of residents came forward to express a myriad of concerns about how the lights would affect the historic neighborhood, as well as complaints about Tabor's handling of the fieldwork in general. Tabor attorney Mark Bobrowski, Tabor Athletic Director Dick Muther, and Headmaster Jay Stroud all were present at the meeting.

At the onset of the meeting, Chairman Robert Wedge asserted his feelings that good faith negotiations with Tabor have broken down. Atty. Bobrowski, however, made clear that Tabor would swiftly appeal any denial to the application, or any restrictions that the school felt unduly burdensome.

Quoting Headmaster Stroud from the informational Selectmen's meeting in early July, in which Mr. Stroud had said he'd be willing not to pursue the lights if the fieldwork was approved, Marion ZBA Chairman said, "If your actions match your words, will you withdraw without prejudice tonight?"

After some confusion about the question, Mr. Stroud responded, "I'm not willing to withdraw that."

Some attendees took issue with Mr. Stroud's stance reversal. Steve Grima, in particular, said, "what bothers me the most is [Mr. Stroud] not honoring his commitment." He elaborated his concern that "the person in charge of educating our youth is reneging on his word in public without remorse... I'm a little bewildered by his character." Mr. Grima then asked for a response from Mr. Stroud, but the headmaster did not answer.

"I'm extremely disappointed in [Mr. Stroud]. It seems like enormous energy is being spent just because someone gave a donation," one Marion resident said, referring to the fact that field enhancements are the result of a gift.

Atty. Bobrowski spoke at length about what the lights would entail. He said the school wishes for a cap of 60 on the number of evening games, although he expects the true number of games to be much lower.

"It will probably be ten to 22 or 23 games per year," he said, adding that the fields would not be rented by any third party.

He answered concerns expressed by Chairman Wedge that the negotiating team originally promised only six games per year. "There never was intent to use the lights only six times per year," he said.

The lights would never be on past 10:00 pm, Tabor Athletic Director Dick Muther said. "Our goal is to

Some questioned how the lights would add to the educational component of Tabor Academy, but Atty. Bobrowski said, "It's not the place of the board or the town to determine if the lights are an important part of the curricula."

"In my mind, it's all about the educational component. What has changed that all of the sudden to get a better education you need lights?" said town resident Richard Barnes, an abutter of the fields. Atty. Bobrowski answered, "times have changed."

"Kids are doing more," he said, remarking that practice times have been pushed back to accommodate SAT taking and other activities. "The day has been extended, and the essence of interscholastic sports has changed."

Resident Janet Barnes then stood up and said she wanted to share what she read on a dedication plaque on a pillar near the fields. "It said, 'these fields are dedicated to character building through good sportsmanship,'" she said, urging townspeople to go by and read the plaque.

The ZBA is scheduled to convene next on August 11 at 7:30 pm in the Town Hall.

and lack of air conditioning, the Board convened in the Marion Police Station to tackle their agenda.

At the request of Sherman Briggs, the Board met with Water Superintendent Rob Zora to hear an update on fire hydrant repairs throughout the town.

Mr. Zora informed the Board that hydrant reparations were considerable because some hydrants were so far-gone that they required a complete shut-off of the water main to repair them, which would interrupt service to town residents.

He said that $25,000, approved at the annual town meeting, would go to repairing three hydrants on Delano Road and two on Point Road, one on Holmes Street and one in front of Washburn Park, which was recently hit by a car. Additionally, he informed the Board that a fire hydrant on Route 105 in Rochester, under Marion's purview, had a completely seized valve that would make replacement difficult.

"[If they have to shut the main down] we'll shut down the water to the entire town of Rochester," said Mr. Zora.

With the work of a third-party company, the town will complete the hydrant repairs over the next four months, he added. The Board asked Mr. Zora to present a plan of action in regards to the hydrant repair progress.

As a second part of his appointment, the Board asked Mr. Zora to give an update on perchlorate testing in the area of Gifford Park in Rochester. After several monitor wells produced higher than average levels of perchlorate in the Marion-owned wells, located in Rochester, Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) declared that the area of Gifford Park could be considered a "point source" and therefore must undergo a remediation program. However, Mr. Zora informed the Board that surface soil on the ballfield is clear of contamination.

Under action items, the Board:

- Exercised a right of first refusal for a property located on County Road, known as the "Zimmer property". "There appears to be no interest," said Town Administrator Paul Dawson.

- Issued a one-day, all-alcohol permit to the VFW

- Approved a request to use the Silvershell Beach parking lot on August 7 from 2:00 to 6:00 pm.

Additionally, the Board issued a $156 abatement to Henry DaSilva of 929 Point Road for the sewer portion of a large water bill that was the result of a pipe that burst last winter. Generally, the Board does not approve the water portion of overuse bills, but if they are confident that the water did not pass into the sewer system, they grant the sewer abatement, said Mr. Dawson.

"This illustrates that even the smallest of leaks starts to add up," he said. "Water that passes through the meter... the person has to be responsible for that."

In his Town Administrator's report, Mr. Dawson informed the Board that Town House construction was well underway, with a temporary handicapped parking space and ramp placed at the front of the building. A drainage system will be built around the building and the project is expected to conclude in two to three weeks.

In correspondence, the Board learned that Spirits liquor store on Front Street had a September 13 hearing with ABCC for a liquor license violation. In an ABCC-facilitated sting, a minor allegedly purchased alcohol from the store, according to a letter that the Board obtained. The Board did not need to act on the allegation, said Mr. Dawson, but Selectmen Jonathan Henry noted that the Board would want to note the progress of the hearing for future town license consideration.

Kittansett Plans Short Game Area

Marion Conservation Commission

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

A meeting of the Marion Conservation Commission was held on Wednesday, July 27, and called to order at 7:00 pm by Chairman Sherman Briggs. Also present were members Wendy Carreau, Norman Hills, Laurence Domain, Joel Hartley and Secretary Diane Drake.

The first order of business was a Notice of Intent by The Kittansett Club, 11 Point Road to construct a short game area along the first fairway south of The Haven, a new tee Box for Hole 1, and a putting green. Susan Nilson, of CLE Engineering represented the applicant. John Kelly and Steve Demmer, from The Kittansett Club also addressed the board.

A discussion ensued regarding the importance of sustaining the coastal bank and dune that abut the proposed construction area. Currently, several trees, bittersweet and other growth inhabit part of the proposed area. The applicant wants to remove three trees and systematically remove bittersweet in the coastal dune area and replace it with native plants such as beach plum and bayberry.

Mr. Hills asked if the removal of the three trees were necessary, as their removal might cause disruption of a delicate area. Ms. Nilson said that if that was an issue, the trees could be left intact. After a discussion, the board agreed to another site visit and voted to continue the hearing until 7:20 pm on August 10, 2011.

The board approved a full certificate of compliance for Stephen Giglia and John Vaccarro for a 1988 order of conditions to repair a pier, construct a gazebo on the end of the pier, drive four new piles, and place a gangway and float at 1 Island Court, Planting Island.

A discussion followed regarding Tabor Academy's synthetic turf field project. At issue was whether or not to ratify an approval of an underground concrete curb (used to hold in the artificial turf) by one foot, as originally proposed by Tabor Academy. The original proposal included a two-foot curb. A three-foot curb had been installed by Tabor Academy instead.

Chairman Briggs opened the discussion and said that the discussion was to be kept to "the curb issue only," and said that the board had followed "due process in following the Wetlands Protection Act" in approving the original project.

Ms. Nilson said that the turf is glued to the lip of the concrete curb and that the closest comparison field would be that of Massachusetts Maritime Academy, which has a turf football field.

Resident Bob Sanderson spoke and said that he had done research on the floating properties of crumb rubber. "In a flood event, the height of the curb is irrelevant... it'll float," said Mr. Sanderson. Headmaster Jay Stroud spoke and said that the turf builds up a static electrical charge, which keeps it bound to the ground.

Resident Betsy Dunn said that comparing the MMA field to Tabor's field wasn't a fair comparison. "The MMA field is no where near the scope of Tabor's field. We are on an inner harbor," said Ms. Dunn.

Laurie Fearing spoke and asked who was monitoring the chemical sanitizing agent that is to be used on the turf. "Who is watching this? Where will these chemicals end up? ...If we can't ask these questions now, when?" said Ms. Fearing.

After hearing from several town residents, and Tabor representatives, Chairman Briggs closed the discussion. The Board voted to ratify the approval to allow the three-foot curb.

Minutes of the July 13, 2011 meeting were approved.

The committee adjourned at 7:55 pm.

Board OKs Riverbed Lane as Public Road

Mattapoisett Planning Board

By Laura Fedak Pedulli

The Planning Board put their stamp of approval on plans to formalize Riverbed Lane, located in the Tinkhamtown area, as a public road at its August 1 meeting. A warrant article for the annual town meeting last spring had requested the public to accept Riverbed Lane as a gift to the town, but the article had been withdrawn because it lacked approval from the Planning Board and Board of Selectmen.

With the Planning Board's approval, the plan will be forwarded to the Board of Selectmen for their vote. If accepted, approval of the lane as a public road will be voted on at the fall special town meeting.

On that topic, Surveyor Dennis Seguin and resident Dan Bungert met with the board to discuss the layout of Riverbed, run-off issues, the condition of the asphalt, and the proximity of fire hydrants. The Water and Sewer Department expressed in writing no problems with the lane. Per the request of board member John Mathieu, the Planning Board's approval stipulated that drainage easements must remain in place as outlined in the original plan.

The board approved the meeting minutes for June 20 and July 18.

In other business, the Planning Board discussed limiting meetings during July and August to one meeting

To the Editor:

I can only hope that town folks have noticed that the Mattapoissett Congregational Church is celebrating its 275th birthday. The way I remind myself of how monumental that is, is to remember that date of 1736 is 40 years before our Revolutionary War! There are many people, both church members and others who have participated in making this a high occasion, but there is one who made a special effort to contribute and to whom cancer, here and throughout the world. While the current economic climate continues to make fundraising more challenging for everybody, I am continually inspired by the dedication of all of my fellow volunteers who have redoubled their efforts to ensure this year's success.

Relay For Life supports the Society's critical mission to save lives and create a world with less cancer and more birthdays by helping people stay well, by preventing cancer or detecting it early; get well, by being in their corner through every step of their cancer experience; by finding cures, through groundbreaking research and treatment discoveries; and by fighting back, through influencing public policy. The outstanding support received at Relay proves that the Tri-Town community is truly committed to the fight against cancer.

We were honored to be joined by more than 45 survivors who participated in the opening lap and survivor reception. These survivors are the reason we continue the fight. Their participation inspires hope in those currently battling cancer.

A special thanks to the many Relay For Life volunteers who worked to make this event a success – celebrating the lives of those who have battled cancer, remembering loved ones lost, and pledging to fight back against the disease. The Relay For Life committee did an outstanding job of putting the event together, including Pam Houston, Maureen McCarthy, Odd Johannessen, Billie Smith, Raymond Cebula, EJ Ruel, Pam Hiller, and Fran Jenner.

We also appreciate the generosity of our area business sponsors.

Again, thank you for supporting the American Cancer Society, and remember it's not too late to turn in any outstanding donations to support this year's event, and never too early to get involved to help us plan for next year! Visit www.RelayforLife.org/TriTownMA to learn more.

Sincerely,
Heather Ruel

Stroud has done a remarkable job at the helm of Tabor over these past many years. We all appreciate him and his immense contribution. I am not just saying this. I mean it. And we have benefitted from having Tabor here, just as Tabor has benefitted hugely from being part of our town.

I have quietly attended most of the public hearings, the last being Thursday night over the lights for the new athletic field.

For me this is not about the "educational enhancements" from 90 foot lights used a few times a year, nor, for that matter anymore, the replacement of a lovely natural playing field with fake grass and glaring red and white Tabor logos. This is about sensitivity towards your neighbors by Mr. Stroud, its Board and lawyers.

I think any outside, objective person coming in, after studying the makeup of our small, quaint, cozy town, would believe that to embark on the replacement of that vast field with its dubious crumb rubber surface, located in a flood zone, and blaringly apparent to anyone entering the town, would urge the school to interact heavily – in advance – with the townspeople to consider their feelings about it before ramming it through with, yes, I have to say it, a degree of arrogance and hubris that somewhat shocks many of us.

There is such a delicate balance and character in this beloved town, so difficult to maintain, and it requires heightened sensitivity on all of our parts to retain these excellent qualities. Tabor should know that. Mr. Stroud of all people, as the steward of over 500 young people each and every year with all of their complicated emotions and reactions and ways of being, should!

This is what shocks us. Oh yes, of course I detest the conversion of a lovely piece of nature right dab in the middle of a key area of our community, now with total synthetic fakery, blazing Tabor signage, and, soon possibly, klieg lights. If it had to be, of course there would be a far more appropriate place to make this conversion, abundantly made clear last night. But as the officials at Town Hall said to someone we know, "Oh Tabor always gets whatever it wants, so why are you challenging that?!" (It is also unfortunate to hear some people close to the school say that Mr. Stroud allegedly believes "there are just a few crazies in town that are against the field".) That degree of arrogance is what sticks so badly in my craw and I think many others. The bold and bald rejection of all cease and desist orders, charging ahead with the conversion and having lawyers thumb their noses at us using the hackneyed Dover Amendment defense is what appalls us.

But there it is. I think Mr. Stroud had ample evidence at the selectmen review public hearing 10 days ago that even those upset about the field are Tabor supporters, Tabor fans, and yet our voices were resoundingly rejected. What a crying shame to have this happen as Mr. Stroud exits from so many years of

Rochester COA Picnic

Due to the cancellation of the Rochester Country Fair this year, the Rochester Council on Aging's Annual Senior Picnic will still be held, but the day, date and location will be different.

The Senior Picnic will be held at the Dexter Lane Senior Center, inside and out back, on Monday, August 15, at noon. There will be tent coverings for the lawn area and there will be seating inside in the air conditioning.

The COA can only accommodate 175 people, so your required admission ticket can be received after August 1 at the Senior Center. First come, first served. A waiting list will be kept if needed.

There will be entertainment, raffles, and a full buffet meal of BBQ items for the season. There is no cost for the picnic, but donations for the meal will be accepted and appreciated on the day of the event. Bring your hat and your appetite!

Code Red Test Call Scheduled

The Plymouth County Sheriff has a new system for operating the Plymouth Bristol Emergency Alert System that contacts residents by telephone in the event of an emergency in their neighborhood. The new system is called CodeRED. It is being used in some communities in Barnstable and Norfolk counties. CodeRED is better technology and less expensive than Plymouth County's former Communicator system.

Test calls are planned for August 5 in the Tri-Town. Residents are urged to register their cell phone numbers and other preferred numbers with us so they may be contacted in the event of a critical incident. To register your number, contact the Plymouth County by calling 508-830-6324.

The Last Five Years at ORR

The Last Five Years will be performed by Aaron Valente and Christine Eubanks in the Old Rochester Regional High School Auditorium.

The Last Five Years, is a contemporary song-cycle musical that ingeniously chronicles the five-year life of a marriage, from meeting to break-up... or from break-up to meeting, depending on how you look at it. Written by Jason Robert Brown (Parade, Songs for a New World), The Last Five Years is an intensely personal look at the relationship between a writer and an actress told from both points of view.

Aaron Valente, an alumnus of Old Rochester and Christine Eubanks, an alumnus of New Bedford

AYA Seeks Mattapoisett Families

In August, Academic Year in America (AYA) is looking for Mattapoisett families to host high school exchange students from all over the world.

This year, AYA is bringing hundreds of German high school students to the U.S. to learn about American culture while living with volunteer host families and studying at high schools across the nation. American families have the unique opportunity to learn about the German culture during this mutually rewarding exchange.

To learn more about hosting a German exchange student with AYA, contact Local Coordinator, Lisa Breen at 508-224-0148 or abbreen@msn.com.

Students are ages 15 to 18 and arrive with full medical insurance, spending money, and the hopes of experiencing life in America through the eyes of a caring host family. The students stay with their host for five or 10 months and attend the local high school.

Who can host a student through AYA? According to AYA Director Melanie French, an important aspect of the AYA program is that there are many types of people who can host.

"Just as there is no typical American family, there is no typical host family," said Ms. French. "Retirees, single parents and young couples are all able to give an international student a good home. Some host families may not even have children of their own. Bringing a student into your home can mean giving the gift of culture to yourself, your family, your community - whomever would benefit from exposure to a new

EDITOR'S PICK OF THE WEEK

Marion Biologist Featured on Shark Week By Shawn Sweet

Public fear and media fascination with sharks not only prompted the iconic film Jaws, but also inspired The Discovery Channel to initiate an annual week devoted to the aquatic beasts. 14 years after its origination, Shark Week is a highly anticipated event and this year it kicked off with a film featuring Marion resident Dr. Gregory Skomal, entitled "Jaws Comes Home" which aired this past Sunday.

Dr. Skomal has worked for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Division of Marine Fisheries since 1987. In addition to his current position of Program Manager, he's also an adjunct faculty member at UMASS Dartmouth's School for Marine Science and Technology, as well as an adjunct scientist at Woods Hole Oceanographic. Skomal's area of expertise can be summed up in one word, "sharks".

Although born and raised in Fairfield, Connecticut, a job opportunity with the Division of Marine Fisheries led him to Martha's Vineyard. While living on the island for some 23 years, he reached local celebrity status. The 'go-to shark guy' was even given a carry all bag with the name "Hooper" monogrammed on it, a reference to the shark expert character from Jaws.

Dr. Skomal moved to Marion with his wife Kimberly and their two children in 2010, as an advancement within the Marine Fisheries Agency led him to the mainland. Tri-Town celebrity status is eminent, as his reputable and respected career combined with his presence in the community are quickly gaining local notoriety.

Recent white shark activity in the waters off Cape Cod has allowed for notable recognition for Dr. Skomal. White sharks have been the subject of much local and national media attention over the last two years, as there has been an increase in sightings. However, the last shark attack to take place in Massachusetts, was in 1936. The attack was fatal and ironically, took place in the waters at Hollywood Beach in Mattapoisett. The recent increase is largely in part to a surge in the grey seal population, said Dr. Skomal, as it offers the white sharks an ample feeding supply. Dr. Skomal pointed out that there has always been white shark existence in these waters, but the recent sightings have been magnified thanks to all the media frenzy.

Dr. Skomal and his team have performed a multitude of studies through the process of tagging some of the white sharks they've encountered. As the tags remain attached, they are used to gain information on predictable migrating patterns, feeding behavior and how they react to environmental factors such as weather and water temperature. This aspect of Dr. Skomal's career is what "Jaws Comes Home" focuses on.

However, the bulk of Dr. Skomal's 28-year career has been spent conducting countless studies on a multiple species of sharks in a variety of habitats. His research has led him to the Red Sea, the Caribbean, the Arctic Circle, Europe, Australia, the Pacific Coast, the Central Pacific and the entire Eastern Seaboard. He's in constant search of information on shark ecology, life history and physiology. His findings have been documented in countless films, news publications and television broadcasts. Dr. Skomal is also a respected author.

When asked what he's most proud of professionally, Dr. Skomal quickly professed his passion for breaking new ground. "Working collaboratively with my team on new discoveries is what drives me", said Dr. Skomal. His ultimate goal is to use the information he's gained to have management in place to conserve the shark species. "Sound and balanced conservation", he said, will make all of his tireless efforts worthwhile.

by Jimmy Roberts this revue style musical is a satirical serenade to the dating world. During a series of fun-filled and humorous vignettes interspersed with songs, all the aspects of love and relationships are explored. The dancing, acting, and singing will inspire audiences to reflect, laugh and perhaps cry a bit, but overall this show is a feel good evening of fun! The show can be upbeat as in "He Called Me" but can be quite sentimental as in "I Will Be Loved Tonight," or sarcastic as in "Always a Bridesmaid, Never a Bride".

The show features a cast of Marion Art Center favorites: Sheila Furtado, Mary Cardwell, Nicole Schaub, Kim Teves, Brad Cardwell, and Ric Teves. Michael Amaral bridges the gap between actor and director doing scenic

MOVIE REVIEW

Car Trouble

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

Dead Hooker in a Trunk*. Starring and directed by Jen and Sylvia Soska. Running time: 90 minutes. Available on demand on IFC Midnight starting August 3.

Occasionally you get someone who starts out in the realm of no-budget grindhouse-type fare but is too good for it. David Cronenberg was one. His young fellow Canadians Jen and Sylvia Soska, twin sisters whose gory calling card is Dead Hooker in a Trunk, may be two others. The Soska Sisters started Dead Hooker in a Trunk as the kind of fake trailer that appeared in Grindhouse — specifically one that didn't, but won the Grindhouse trailer contest, Jason Eisener's terrific Hobo with a Shotgun. The story does indeed involve a car trunk containing one (1) dead hooker. But the end result is driftier and trippier than your typical wannabe-grindhouse fare. The movie is surprisingly meditative and becalmed at times; at other times, of course, blood splatters and intestines are pulled out and played with.

At all times, the movie feels uncompromising. I'm sure the Soska Sisters could regale you all day with anecdotes about shots and scenes they wanted to get but didn't have the budget for, but what's on the screen feels unmediated, exactly what they set out to put there. There's an essential female playfulness throughout. Some unimaginative studio head might have said "Why the hell are you playing Vancouver mope rock under a torture scene?", but it works chillingly well. Tonally, the film is of a piece, part Gregg Araki, part Sarah Jacobson, Ginger Snaps meets Very Bad Things, morosely defiant but with a streak of generosity that belies the Soska Sisters' too-sick-for-you pose. Like their hero Eli Roth, they come on like nihilists but have a strong sense of fairness and kindness.

The sisters also star onscreen as polar-opposite sibs Geek (Jen) and Badass (Sylvia). With Geek's dorkily religious friend Goody Two Shoes (CJ Wallis) and Badass' band-fronting buddy Junkie (Rikki Gagne) in tow, they discover the titular corpse and spend much of the movie figuring out what to do with it. There's also a hoodie-wearing serial killer going around knocking off prostitutes, and a drug dealer who picks the wrong time to open his door, and a character called Cowboy Pimp. Most often the violence is realistic, with one large exception involving a character who loses and regains an arm but never seems much the worse for wear. Stuff like that gives the impression that the Soska Sisters will disregard realism when they want to. If it gets in the way of whatever cool scene they want to put together, to hell with it.

Dead Hooker in a Trunk isn't especially plot-centered; it shuffles between weird quietude and riot-grrl thrill kills. Past a certain point, you're watching a riff, but there's no irony in it, and I don't think the Soska Sisters share the "whatever" attitude of some of their characters.

Goody Two Shoes may be a dweeb and Geek may be self-destructively trusting of authority, but they're the movie's moral center. (Yes, Dead Hooker in a Trunk has a moral center.) The stunts, supervised and performed by more professionals than you'd usually see in a film of this scale, give the action a feral lift. When people get punched and roughed up, it looks like it hurts. A flashback showing exactly how the dead hooker got that way, and who made her dead, has Bizet's "Carmen Suite No. 2 — Habanera" running blithely underneath it, a loping aural beauty in contrast to the ugly percussion of baseball bat against skull. Oftentimes indie filmmakers will lay classical music under ultraviolence for that easy Kubrick flavor, but it feels different here, sadder.

To return to my earlier point: I think the Soska Sisters will ultimately prove to be better than this material. Not that the material isn't fun. But I note an artistic sensibility that will, with the proper financial nurturing, expand beyond the grindhouse. They obviously love gore-horror and action and girls who kick ass. And that may be what they genuinely want to do for a while; they're still young and in love with the heady thrill of getting to film all the violently cool stuff they grew up smitten with. (They're already at work on their next film, American Mary.) But when and if they want to do something else — and I'm definitely not talking about rom-coms here — I don't see anything getting in their way.

is a fitting place for the show, as the Bourne Wareham Art Association was started in 1963 in conjunction with the 50th Anniversary celebration of the opening of the Cape Cod Canal. Their purpose was to promote the appreciation of fine arts in the Canal area. The BWAA annually provides art scholarships to deserving Wareham and Bourne senior art students who plan to further their art education.

Come and meet local artists from Bourne, Wareham, Rochester, Falmouth and the surrounding area who will exhibit their artwork. Original fine art paintings in oil, acrylic, pastel, mixed media, fine art prints, digital art, photos, jewelry, pottery and giclee prints will be available from 10:00 am until 3:30 pm. For more information or to receive an application to enter the show call 508-495-0870. Entry fee for artists is $20 for members/$25 for non-members for each ten feet of fence.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You face the possibility of raising your relationship to another level. However, your partner might demand that you make promises for which you're not sure you're ready.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) As changes continue, expect things to get a little more hectic at your workplace. An unexpected travel opportunity could open new career prospects.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Confront the person who caused your hurt feelings and demand a full explanation for his or her actions. You'll not only recover your self-esteem, but you'll also gain the respect of others.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) That personal problem in the workplace is compounded by someone's biased interference. Stand your ground, and you'll soon find allies gathering around you.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You don't accept disapproval easily. But instead of hiding out in your den to lick your wounded pride, turn the criticism into a valuable lesson for future use.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) That former friend you thought you'd cut out of your life is still affecting other relationships. Counter his or her lies with the truth. Your friends are ready to listen.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) What appears to be an unfair situation might simply be the result of a misunderstanding. If you feel something is out of balance, by all means, correct it.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A stalled relationship won't budge until you make the first move. Your partner offers a surprising explanation about what got it mired down in the first place.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A co-worker shares some startling news, but before you can use it to your advantage, make sure it's true. The weekend favors family matters.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Your usual conservative approach to family situations might not work at this time. Keep an open mind about developments, and you might be pleasantly surprised.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Plans might have to be put on hold because of a family member's problems. Don't hesitate to get involved. Your help could make all the difference.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Relationships in the home and in the workplace need your careful attention during this period. Be careful not to allow misunderstandings to create problems.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a keen, insightful intellect and enjoy debating your views with others who disagree with you. You also love to solve puzzles -- the harder, the better.

• Café Parlez' – Café Parlez' selection for August is Half-Broke Horses, by Jeanette Walls. After her success with The Glass Castle, Walls explored the unconventional life of her maternal grandmother, Lily Casey Smith. At fifteen, Lily left home to teach in a frontier town, riding 500 miles on her pony, alone, to get to her job. She learned to drive a car and to fly a plane. And she and her husband ran a vast ranch in Arizona. Cafe Parlez will discuss this book on Thursday, August 25 at 6:30 pm. Books and audio books are available at the desk, or bring your own copy.

I Found the Aardvark!

Each week, hidden somewhere in the pages of The Wanderer is a tiny drawing of an aardvark. The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer, there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

Once you find the aardvark you can submit your answer online and if you are right you will get Aardvark Points! You can then use these points to get cool Aardvark Prizes!

Each time you find the Aardvark you will also be entered in our monthly drawing for other cool Aardvark Prizes.

If you would like to enter the monthly drawing by mail, send your name, address and phone number along with the issue date and page number you found him in to: Wanderer - I Found the Aardvark, P.O. Box 102, Mattapoisett, MA 02739. Entries by mail will not be eligible for Aardvark Points.
